Cleveland Wins World's Series Beating Brooklyn in Seventh Game

PITCHING OF COVELESKIE LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCCESS OF INDIANS TEAM

Score of Final Game Was Three to Nothing—Cleveland Won Three of The Five Games For Cleveland—Superiority of Indians Clearly Demonstrated in Last Four Games

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—The Cleveland American league club won the supreme baseball title here this afternoon when the Indians defeated the Brooklyn Nationals in the seventh and deciding game of the 1920 world's series by a score of 3 to 0. Tonight Cleveland is celebrating in a manner in keeping with the honor.

The almost victory was engineered by Stanley Coveleskie, the apitball pitcher of the local team, who has proved his remarkable skill and endurance during the series. Backed by an airtight defense the Shamokin, Pa., miner led the Robins down with five hits. But two Brooklyn players reached second base during the nine sessions at bat, and but five of the invaders were left on the bases all told.

Coveleskie's feat in winning three of the five games necessary to clinch the championship, for Cleveland, will go down as one of the outstanding features of world's series baseball history. The batter's box saw two runs off the misnamed slacker of "Covey," in the twenty innings in which he officiated on the mound. He let the Robins down with one run in the first game at Brooklyn on October 16, allowed them a second tally on Saturday and shut them out today. It is doubtful if a more masterly exhibition of nitching has been seen in any world's series since 1905 when Christy Mathewson, then at the zenith of his twirling career, with the New York Giants, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics in three games.

Great as must be the credit accorded to the remarkable feat of the general offensive and defensive players of the Indians, the Cleveland club cannot be dimmed by the individual glory of their pitcher. The Indians' victory was straight game from Brooklyn after the first inning, when the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game, and the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game, and the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game.

In shutting out the Nationals, Coveleskie was the first pitcher to shut out a team in the world's series since 1905 when Christy Mathewson, then at the zenith of his twirling career, with the New York Giants, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics in three games.

That the outstanding feature was appreciated by the Cleveland following is shown by the fact that the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game, and the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game, and the Indians' pitcher, Coveleskie, pitched a perfect game.

A New Task For Sir Arthur Currie

Sir Arthur Currie, who stepped out of the chief command of the Canadian Army to take over the Principality of McGill University, should find good scope for his organizing ability and driving force. In McGill's Warfield Campaign for $5,000,000, which has been arranged for the week commencing November 15th. This sum, large for a Canadian University, but small in comparison with the recent campaigns for Harvard, Yale, Cornell and Princeton, is necessary to put the great Canadian University financially on its feet, and to help to recoup the losses caused by its active participation in the war and by the absence of many students on war service overseas; also to renew and extend equipment, to increase professors' salaries; to extend the building to meet the requirements of the larger number of students in attendance since the close of the war; to meet the special requirements of the various faculties; to erect dormitories for students, a common dining hall, professors' residences, and a convocation hall. Many leading Montreal citizens have accepted the responsibility of heading and arranging the work of the campaign, which will be along lines made familiar in Canada in years past.

McGill, from its very inception, nearly a hundred years ago, was identified with scientific research and application. The Faculty of Medicine is the oldest Faculty of the University, and the first degree conferred was the medical degree given to Dr. Logan. The practical training of McGill's teaching appealed to business men, such as the late Sir William Macdonald and Lord Strathcona, and no doubt influenced them in helping the University with substantial endowments. The pre-eminence of McGill in Applied Science is largely due to the policy of Sir William Dawson, during whose regime the edifice of Engineering was enlarged into the Department of Practical Science, and later into the Faculty of Applied Science.

Scientific Agriculture is taught under the auspices of McGill at the affiliated Macdonald College in Ste. Anne de Bellevue which has done a great work in teaching improved methods of farming, not only in the Province of Quebec, but also throughout the whole of both Eastern and Western Canada. At Macdonald College also is a school for Teachers which has greatly elevated our educational standards.

McGill has produced some of the foremost physicians, surgeons, engineers and men of science of our time. John Hopkin University owes its high standing to the administration inaugurated by a McGill man, the late Sir William Osler, who afterwards did similar work for the School of Medicine at Oxford University.

Lord Shaughnessy is the honorary chairman of the Campaign Committee, while Mr. H. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific, is the active chairman of the executive. Others actively interested in the campaign work are Sir Vincent Meredith, President of the Bank of Montreal, Lord Abolomon, proprietor of the Montreal "Star," Sir Charles Gordon, Sir Montagu Allan, and a committee of 150 men prominent in Montreal's banking, transportation, shipping, and general business circles. In addition to those there is a strong committee of the Graduate Society, with branches throughout Canada and a membership in many parts of the world.
